Hartsville Christmas Parade

Downtown on Carolina Ave.
Sat., Dec. 4th - starting at 10:30 a.m.

The Christmas tree is here!

With all the festivities happening in beautiful, Holiday Hartsville this weekend, not to be outdone is the lighting of the natural Christmas tree in Burry Park. Above photo: Steven Wild (on truck bed) and Robby Baker- both of the City's Streets and Grounds crew - unload the 25+ foot tree in readiness for the lighting ceremony.

The lighting ceremony takes place at 6:00 p.m. - Fri., Dec. 3rd.

Don't miss this Holiday Kickoff Weekend in Hartsville - truly a family event!

Above photo: Steven Wild - city grounds supervisor - inspects the hole for the Burry Park Christmas Tree. Unfortunately, his shoulders were caught underground and he had to be pulled out. No harm to Steven!

The entire project is estimated for an end of December completion date (pending weather conditions).

★ Don't Forget ...

Many of you attended the Hartsville Veterans Memorial dedication and flag-raising ceremony on November 11th. If you took photographs, here is your opportunity to share your photos and possibly win a chance to have your favorite one incorporated into a postcard!

To submit an entry, send via e-mail by Wednesday, December 15, 2010, to: liz.eades@hartsville.org. Limit 5 photos per person; each not larger than 4 mb. Place "photo-op" in the subject line. Make sure to include your name and telephone number, too. It's as easy as that!

The Veterans Memorial Dedication Committee will judge all the submitted photos in January 2011.

Would you like a DVD of the entire Veterans Memorial celebration?
Email to: liz.eades@hartsville.org for a mail-in form.
